

Sunday 7th - Priorities

Last weekend, about 300 Uniting Church women from all over the country gathered in Brisbane for Uniting Women 2018. We worshiped together, we ate together, we shared conversations with each other, we learned together. All in all, we had a great time.

I went to a workshop on well-being, and one of the things we talked about was to consider our priorities in life - not necessarily our day-to-day to do lists (although these can be important), but the overall priorities in our life. Our priorities in life determine our focus and direction, and depending on how we deal with them in our lives can greatly affect our well-being.

I am looking forward to being 'home' this week and sharing with everyone as we look at what Mark 10:17-31 has to say about priorities, and continuing to build community when we share Holy Communion together.

Sunday 14th - A Big Fish, A Lost Son & Amazing Grace

It's not really about the fish, it's not only about the son, it's all about me! No, actually it's all about God but also about all of us (and that includes me).

The stories handed down and written in the Old Testament and those told by Jesus and the authors of the New Testament have powerful messages for each one of us. Sometimes it's the one preached from the front, sometimes it is something else that may not even reveal itself until later and the message they bring may be different today from the one they brought the last time we heard it.

What message will the Bible stories bring you this time?
I look forward to finding out with you.
