A few years ago there was a television commercial that had me particularly bemused. It was for a popular soft drink and it showed a group of young people helping a friend move house. The final scene showed a few of them carrying a couch in; only to be interrupted by another jumping on the couch holding the said drink in her hand. The friends fell about laughing as if this was the funniest thing to have happened after two days of solid moving. Honestly, this would not have been my immediate response.

Moving anything requires effort. Whether it be moving house or schools, moving a limb after surgery, or a body after sitting down for a while. Moving requires not only a choice to be made but a preparedness to potentially be uncomfortable.

This week, spurred on by the reality of coming alive and being awake in the Spirit, we discover that we are designed (or redesigned) to be on the move. As the Spirit was moving before creation and in the forming of the Christian church, we as followers of Jesus are called now, to be on the Move; as His people, in our communities.

Move well and see you Sunday. Grace and peace, Pete
